A well-made suit with lots of features including pockets, a hood, carry bags and mesh lining

Rev'it claim both items are breathable and waterproof. They both come with handy carry bags so you can stash them in your bag after use without getting everything else wet. There are draw-straps at the cuffs, collar, hips and waist and reflective panels have been laminated into the jacket and trousers. The jacket has a hood, two external pockets and one internal pocket as well as an adjustable belt and Velcro adjustment on the upper arms. Both items are sold separately, but they are designed to be used together.

HELD RANO JACKET AND TEMPEST TROUSERS

A quality suit with well thought-out Velcro fastenings for a snug fit

This jacket has a built-in hood and is very adjustable so you can achieve a close fit, thanks to Velcro straps on the upper arms and under the arms/up around the chest that can stop it flapping in the wind. It also features an elasticated waist and drawstring at the hem. There's one zipped internal pocket. The Tempest trousers have extremely long zips – they come above the knee, allowing you to don the trousers quickly in a downpour. Both garments have extensive fluoro yellow areas and reflective panels so you can be more easily seen in murky conditions.
