

Magura X-Line CPX handlebars

The new version of German firm Magura's X-Line bars as designed in conjunction with renowned stunt rider Christian Pfeiffer.

The thick bars are made from tapered aluminium and are almost straight, with a slight bend towards the rider, as specified by Pfeiffer. Two Magura clamp kits are available to allow conversion to the wider-diameter bars.

Weise Outlast Baltimore jacket

The new jacket from Weise sees them moving up in the world, by using Outlast material. The fabric is designed to absorb body heat when the rider is too warm and store it, so it can be returned when it cools down. The Baltimore also has a waterproof and breathable membrane and CE armour at the shoulders, elbows and back plus high-viz material in a zip-up section at each elbow.

Knox HC Tech back protector

British armour people Knox have worked hard to cut the weight of their back protector insert; the new HC Tech weighs just 86g. It comes in three sizes to go inside riding jackets and is approved to the higher Level 2 of the CE standard.
